

Ixelles Corporate Hockey Tournament

KPMG team in the final!

On Thursday, May 28, 2009, a KPMG hockey team participated in the 'Ixelles Hockey Corporate Tournament'. Good weather conditions, great team spirit and a dedicated fan base helped boost the team to the final! Read more below.

'Even though the KPMG team had never played together before, it did not take long for them to develop 'team spirit', so essential for a team sport such as hockey! The team started very strongly and crushed L'Oréal 3-0 in the first game. They played a fantastic second game as well, winning 3-2 against Euroclear.

Next, the KPMG team had a tough game against Procter & Gamble, a fearsome opponent with a former professional player in their midst. Despite making a strong effort, KPMG lost 4-2 in extra time, which the referee, by the way, had granted in rather suspicious circumstances... No hard feelings though!

Semi-final against Deloitte

For their semi-final match the KPMG team gave Deloitte no chance and won 4-2! This score was their ticket to the finals, where they would be up against... Procter & Gamble. At this stage the crowd was going wild, cheering for their favorite team. The KPMG supporters had even brought a giant KPMG flag! But also on the court temperatures were rising, with everyone ready to give what it takes to gain the victory.

Final against Procter & Gamble

Despite great efforts, though, the KPMG team was unable to withstand Procter & Gamble's attacking force and lost 5-0. A well-deserved victory for the best team of the tournament.

Congratulations!
